Monday October 12, 2009 12:57 PM By Peter M. Gianotti

Porto Vivo, the new Italianate eatery, has started "wine experience" Mondays and added a $25 fixed-price menu to go with them. Executive chef Steven Lecchi's prix-fixe selections are expected to change weekly, with choices including cannelloni with bechamel sauce, seared sea scallops atop chive potatoes finished with chardonnay sauce, and pan-seared wild king salmon on parsnip puree, accented with a Chianti demi-glace.

Wines include Trimbach riesling, Acacia chardonnay and Banfi's Centine, a red blend. The fixed-price menu is available with or without the wines. Unlimited pours of the wines-of-the-week: $18. Philipp Seipelt, one of the eatery's owners, discusses the wines each week. Porto Vivo is at 7 Gerard St.; 631-385-8486.
